Tragic Death of Well-Known Blairmore Man

Driving Home Peacefully From Waterton When Car Goes Into Ditch.

Driving home from Waterton on Sunday evening, Alex. Irvine and wife and daughter, and George Linn and wife and daughter, were enjoying the scenery. It is stated in one report that Mr. Irvine's attention was suddenly diverted by someone in the car calling attention to something in the mountains. In the moment he took his eyes from the road, the car went close to the edge, and in trying to suddenly regain the middle, the car skidded, and turned over once, coming to rest on its wheels.

Linn died very shortly after from a broken neck, the others suffering minor injuries. Mrs. Irvine had some stitches placed in a cut on her head, and Mrs. Linn is reported to have suffered fractured ribs. General sympathy is extended to the relatives, and to Mr. Irvine, who was badly shaken by the shock. Having the reputation of a careful driver, and never having had an accident, it was a keen blow to him.

The funeral is in the hands of a committee of the Masonic lodge at Blairmore, and it may not be held till Sunday.

The inquest held at Pincher Creek on Monday exonerated Mr. Irvine from blame.

Road Surfacing Improvements

Will Commence Work on Various Pieces of Road in Town.

Approximately $2500 will be spent on surfacing a total of half a mile, it was decided at a special meeting of the town council. From McDonald's corner to the end of the row of houses on Second street, a portion of the road on east Main street, and from Bobbitt's corner to Shield's store in West Coleman are the places it is planned to surface.

Crushed rock and gravel will be spread with a binder supplied by Imperial Oil Co., and the work will be handled by Contractor D'Appollonia.

Some "Blow-Out"

Two calves, four pigs, 50 turkeys and 175 chickens were fed to a wedding party of 600 guests at Natal last week, when John Qualteri was married to Miss Teresa Altomere. Just what the guests had in addition is not stated. With such a wedding feast the happy couple should get away to a good start.

"Has Beens" vs. Regulars at Soccer, Sunday

Soccer fans are in for a real treat Sunday at 3.30 p.m. when the "Has Beens" will oppose the team that won Coleman its first league victory in three years. The "Has Beens" include many stars of former years and the league team will hard pressed to win out.

Coleman have cancelled their league game with Kimberley this Sunday in order that they may secure more finances before making the trip. A collection will be made at the exhibition game to help finance the Kimberley trip which has been postponed until July 25.

Mrs. Campbell Thompson, of Seattle, arrived Tuesday to spend several weeks vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Wilson.

Mrs. J. A. McLeod and Mrs. Eddie Smyth of Cadomin are guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Morrison.

Mr. and Mrs. William Cole, of Victoria, B.C., are at present at Bellevue.

Coleman School District

Sale of Old School Building

Known as the bank school, same will be sold to the highest bidder. The whole may be tendered on, or interior fixtures may be tendered on separately. Address tenders with deposit cheque of $10 to the Secretary, Coleman School Trustees, before the end of July. Condition of purchase is that ground must be left clear on removal of building.

Hope Resigns Chairmanship

Walked Out of Trustees Meeting After Vote Taken on Appointment of Assistant Secretary.

At a meeting of the school trustees on July 2, Chairman George Hope handed in his written resignation after a vote taken to appoint an assistant secretary for August, decided on continuing Miss Gladys Lees, with power of attorney.

Trustee Fraser was in the chair when the vote was taken, the motion being made by Trustee Fleming, seconded by Trustee Sharp, and with Trustee Greenhalgh the vote carried.

Earlier in the evening an altercation had taken place between Chairman Hope and the editor of this paper over the published report of a previous meeting stating that Hope had tried to use his influence to appoint his son-in-law as secretary. The chairman vociferously denied it.

The editor charged the chairman not only with using his office for personal ends and incompetency, but also with embarrassing the secretary, James Ford, on sick leave, in such a manner as to cause him unnecessary worry. He stated that the former chairman, Arthur Reid, had been defeated in the last election because an issue was made of his son having been appointed building inspector on construction of the high school. If it was wrong in principle then, it was wrong for the present chairman to persist in his attitude.

The resignation was laid on the table to be dealt with at the next regular meeting, as required by the ordinance. Trustee William Fraser was appointed by the remaining trustees, and is now carrying out the duties as chairman.

In explanation of the arrangements made to carry on during Secretary Ford's leave of absence, Miss Gladys Lees and Miss Audrey Halliwell were engaged by Mr. Ford, with the consent of the council and school board, he paying his assistants. This arrangement was agreed to by the board for the month of June. The meeting on July 2 (Friday) was for the purpose of making arrangements for carrying on the work, which the chairman was not in favor of on the present basis, he desiring to appoint his son-in-law, who carries on an insurance business.

Trustee Fleming in proposing last Friday's motion expressed the opinion that as the work had been carried on satisfactorily during the month of June, and the assistants had done the heavy end of the work in sending out assessment notices, he would favor their continuance during July. His motion met

Coleman Homing Pigeon is Grand Champ.

Superior in Flight by Wide Margin of All Alberta Club's Birds.

A homing bird owned by F. E. Eyrebackers won the Western Federation homing race from Waterways, Alberta with a velocity of 988 yards per minute. B. Carder, of Calgary, was second and Fred Beddington's bird third. This is the first year a Federated race has been flown, and it is a source of pride that a Coleman bird should have won against all comers in Alberta clubs.

The winning bird covered 507½ miles between daylight and dark with three hours to spare, and was well ahead of all competitors with three hours to spare.

Sharp-Borden Tennis Champs.

Frank Sharp and Dick Borden combined to stroke their way to the junior tennis doubles championship here last week with a total of 29 points. Close on their heels were two feminine stars, Shiela Devine and Isabel McDonald, with 26 points. Nine teams entered. The juniors gave a vote of thanks to Mr. Joe Lipowski, proprietor of Coleman Hotel, for his courtesy in supplying soft drinks.

This is Sharp's second win in tournament play this year and he has decided to try and regain for Coleman the southern Alberta junior singles tennis championship.

A number of local players will enter the southern Alberta tournament being held at Lethbridge towards the end of the month, those being the McLeod sisters, Shone, Balloch, Roughead and Sharp.

Shone, Balloch, Roughead and possibly Jenkins will compete at Calgary in the provincial tournament beginning early in August.

Playing at Michel sports on Thursday and Friday of last week, Coleman soccer club lost out to Michel in the prize competitions. The first game ended in a 2-2 tie and Michel took first money Friday afternoon with a 2-0 win. Prize money was $75 and $50.

Enlargement to Frank Abousafy's store will double his space for stock, facilitating improved service.

With support of Trustees Sharp and Greenhalgh, Trustee Fraser being in the chair. The latter served twelve years as a trustee several years ago, and after remaining out of office for some time, again ran for office in February last and was elected, with Trustees Neil Fleming and Pete Sharp. Hope and Greenhalgh had another year to complete their terms.

Merchandise Coupons Again For This Week

YOUR CHANCE TO WIN AT NO COST TO YOU

"Alpine" Milk is sponsoring the $5.00 coupon prize competition in retail stores this week. The coupons in this paper are good in every store which is advertising groceries and meats, and every purchaser of goods to the value of $1.00 or over is entitled to compete. It costs nothing more than placing a coupon in the box with your name, address, and store at which deposited.

This co-operative merchandising and advertising plan is arranged to give Coleman people the lowest possible prices and you are urged to take advantage of their leaders as well as other lines advertised. Study carefully their ads, and you'll find it pays to buy at home. Deal with your home town merchants—always! They are sure to give you service and satisfaction.

Town Council Notes

Meeting on June 29, all members present.

Ordered that a new tap be placed on water pipe at cemetery, as complaints had been made that some had delayed others getting water by attaching a hose to water grave plots.

Letter from Sam Melanchuk re relief work was laid on the table for further consideration.

Mrs. Haynes request for a reduction in taxation on a house, which had accumulated since 1931, was rebated $100, owing to her being a widow, and the probability that she would sell the house. Her total bill was $224.45. Motion by Antroubus-Borrows, carried.

A. E. Ferguson, proprietor of Crows Nest Undertaking Parlors, conferred with council over the plan of cemetery, and a committee will go further into the matter with a view to improving the layout of plots.

A request was made by letter from John Lochrie for relief. His compensation had been stopped. An allowance of $10 was voted.

A request by a ratepayer for the hire of the town truck and driver was not granted, a councillor pointing out that there were men with trucks for hire who were in the business.

Wm. Wright is a patient at the local hospital.

Mrs. A. Cornett, Mr. and Mrs. Melville Cornett and son, and Miss Eleanor Neilson motored to Spokane last week. Miss Neilson continued to the coast where she will spend a vacation.

The L.O.B.A. will attend morning service at the United church on Sunday and not in the evening as previously announced. The congregation is asked to bear this special service in mind.

Coleman Defeat Michel 2-1

Bringing joy to the hearts of their committee and supporters, Coleman swept to their first league win in three years as they drubbed Michel, on the latter's ground, 2-1 before a fair crowd on Sunday.

Playing with a strong wind advantage in the first half Coleman were unable to score, missing several chances. The local defence held strong and the half went scoreless. Coleman played better football with the wind against them and soon took a 1-0 lead when Moore scored. Michel evened it up when awarded a penalty kick, the result of a scrimmage around Coleman goal. Coleman forged ahead again when Knight scored to make it 2-1 and held their lead till the final whistle.

Bud Clarke and Buck Eyesacker motored to Banff for a few days. They left the cat and dog at home. But always looking for adventure, they proved friends in need in hauling a car containing some Montana school teachers out of a ditch. While they were engaged in the task, a car passed driven by the editor of the home town paper where the girls came from. He spotted them, assisted in extricating them, and promised he wouldn't put their names in the paper. We didn't promise that much to Bud and Buck.

The Pass Enjoys Y. P. Corps From Edmonton

Talented Group of Young Singers Bring Joy and Inspiration to Pass Towns.

Edmonton Young People's Corps of the Salvation Army came to the Pass towns on Tuesday and Wednesday and with their inspiring music and song entertained audiences in Coleman, Blairmore and Bellevue.

Travelling in a special bus, they left the capital on Friday and have averaged four programs a day, playing at the various towns through which they pass. There are 25 in the party, headed by Major and Mrs. Acton, Sergeant-Major Eadie, Adjutant Fugelsang and Adjutant Van Room. The party includes young singers from nine years upwards, and under the splendid training of Sergeant-Major Eadie, they are indeed most enjoyable to listen to.

Stirring Army music, solos by a 13-year-old boy soprano, quartettes and sextettes, are included in their extensive repertoire, and on Wednesday evening at Bellevue they gave an entirely different program to that of Tuesday given in Coleman. In order that the audience, too, might have a hand in the singing, Sergeant-Major Eadie got them to sing the chorus of an Army song, "Keep That Smile," which he stated they should remember after the songsters had left.

Mayor Pattinson was chairman, and Major Acton gave a brief address. He thanked the local ladies of the Salvation Army and all who helped to provide accommodation here. On their arrival a bounteous dinner was waiting at the Army hall, and in the afternoon they went to Blairmore United church to give a program. Wednesday was spent in joining in the annual Army picnic at Crows Nest Lake, and in the evening they went to Bellevue. The party will play in various towns on their way back to Edmonton, their tour being timed to finish next Sunday night.

Some very fine weekly newspapers come from the Dominion. It is quite easy to see which towns have progressive merchants by the advertising columns, for the local weekly is the most convincing reflex of local activities.

Miss Edith Ash left for Winnipeg recently where she will visit her sister, Mrs. W. Smith.

Government By Commission

It is not perhaps surprising that organizations and individuals are inclined to look askance at what has been termed the "rising tide of bureaucracy" as represented in the growing tendency to hand over the reins of governmental administration to appointed boards and commissions.

That there is a growing trend in this direction, both in the Federal and provincial arenas in Canada cannot be gainsaid. The evidence is palpable. One only has to look around and enumerate, for proof that a multiplicity of boards and commissions are at work performing, in some cases the functions of governments, and in others, the duties formerly delegated to the courts. And the tendency is towards increased growth of administration in this form.

Apart from the question of expediency, there are, of course, arguments advanced in support of administrative government by appointed commissions and boards and some of these arguments are not without foundation. For instance, it is urged with a good deal of truth that demands by the people upon their governments for extension of civil service and new services is increasing all the time, and that these services can be rendered with greater expedition and more efficiency by boards set up for the purpose than by governmental departments.

The argument cannot very well be refuted, but the question which the people have to face is whether or not they are willing to surrender a good many privileges, such as the principle of governmental responsibility to the electorate, the right of appeal against decisions and the right to know what is going on, for the sake of speed and perhaps greater efficiency.

That these privileges—or should one call them rights?—are impaired and threatened to an increasing degree with the multiplication of administrative boards and commissions was recognized at the recent convention of the Law Society of Saskatchewan, when delegates approved a committee report pointing out some of the principal objections to administration by commission and decided that the committee continue its work and further, supported a proposal that a program of education which would bring the facts and the problem to the attention of the public be conducted.

One of the chief objections to commission form of administration is the fact that arbitrary powers are usually vested in organizations which are not directly responsible to the electorate and very often there is no appeal to the courts from the dictates and rulings of these bodies. In other words, the individual, deprived of recourse to the courts in which he has every confidence, has no power to obtain redress. That is to say, one of the fundamental rights of the individual is largely safeguarded to that extent. Another objection, and this was stressed by the Law Society committee, is the fact that these appointed tribunals frequently conduct their hearings in secrecy, with press and public excluded, and coupled with that is the fact that reasons for decisions are not usually given. Under these circumstances, it is not surprising that the committee decided that "the comparative secrecy of the hearing tends to destroy confidence."

When rulings are made and decisions binding upon the public, are given behind closed doors and without any accompanying reasons therefor, it is to be expected that public confidence in tribunals that carry on their work in this manner will not be very strong.

On the other hand it may well be pointed out that frequently enough the wheels of justice operating through the established channels of the law courts travel slowly and to the layman, it appears that the processes involved often entail unnecessary expense, possibly because of delay and the necessity of traversing a road bordered by a good deal of red tape.

No one in this country would wish to support the informal, sometimes bordering on indignity, which marks the administration of justice in some of the courts on the other side of the international boundary, but if measures can be adopted here which would simplify procedure and reduce its costliness without robbing the courts and legal procedure of the dignity and respect in which they are properly held, they would be generally welcomed.

It is to the credit of the barristers attending the Saskatchewan convention that some recognition was given to this phase of the general question. The very fact that lawyers themselves recognize the advisability of modifying procedure and reducing expense to suit present day circumstances and conditions is encouraging.

Relief Frauds

A Little Bit Of Reason Is Necessary In All Things

There are still thousands of deserving people on relief. It would also look as if there are still some others who are imposing on the taxpayers. A case that apparently belongs in the latter category was revealed in the police court. A Toronto resident was sentenced to seven days in jail and fined $20 or seven days and had his driving permit cancelled on a reckless driving charge. An additional fine of $10 or 10 to 14 was imposed on him for failing to return to the scene of an accident in which another car had been damaged to the extent of $35.

The evidence was that the accused had been drinking. His counsel stated that he is not working and is on relief.

What those who are paying the relief bills will want to know is how it is that a relief recipient has the money to own and drive a car, buy a driving permit and pay for the gasoline and buy whiskey if he is really an indigent.—Toronto Telegram.

Luck Ran In Three

Guelph Couple Travel In Prize Car With Prize Money

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle O'Neill of Guelph, Ontario, went to the Maritimes in a new car on their honeymoon trip, all of which came about because luck evidently runs in threes for the groom.

A graduate of Ontario Agricultural College, O'Neill won a car for a contest. Just before the wedding ceremony he won a $1,000 cheque in a honeymoon contest.

Then came a bit of hard luck when the new car was damaged when another car ran into it while it was parked on a Guelph street. The accident was not serious, however, by a third bit of good luck when the insurance company gave O'Neill another new car to replace the damaged machine.

For Green Pastures

Much Attention Being Devoted The World Over To Grassland Problems

Although during the present generation, wheat has held the stage in the public eye as the most spectacular agricultural crop, there is a much older and important crop on which agriculture itself was founded in the dawn of civilization. This is the grassland or pasture crop. For many years, it was relegated into the background until agricultural science came to its aid by adding much to human knowledge (and profit to the farmer) in relation to grassland, its creation, management and fertilization.

Never before has there been so much interest all over the world in grassland problems, or so much attention devoted to research work along the lines of plant breeding to improve the different forage grasses and legumes, the nutritive value of the various forage crops in livestock feeding, the improvement of grassland by the use of fertilizers, pasture management, and the study of the best seed mixtures for hay and pasture purposes.

Recently scientists of the Dominion, Ontario, and Quebec Departments of Agriculture, together with those of the various agricultural colleges, held a two-day session of the Dominion-Provincial Pasture Conference at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, where the main phases of cultivation and utilization of pasture lands were discussed and this month representative agricultural scientists will assemble for the world's Fourth International Grassland Conference at the Welsh Plant Breeding Station at Aberystwyth, Wales, chosen because the work accomplished there is internationally known. It is expected much benefit to all countries will be derived from the discussions during the meetings.

Canada will be represented by Dr. E. K. Kirk, the Dominion Agriculturalist, who will deliver the plenary paper for the Dominion under the title of "The Valuation of Some Species of Grasses and Legumes for Pasture under Canadian Conditions." The only other Canadian representative, Dr. MacConkey of the Canadian Research Council, will give a paper "Nutritional Aspects of Forage Crop Production in Eastern Canada."

Investigate Arctic Regions

Canadian, U.S. and British Scientists To Conduct Studies

Distinguished scientists from United States and Great Britain this summer will conduct investigations in the Canadian Arctic regions. Dr. Charles Camsell, commissioner of the Northwest Territories council, announced names of scientists and explorers granted licenses to conduct studies within the Territories.

The Carnegie Museum, Pittsburgh, will be represented by Arthur C. Mearns and J. Kenneth Douth. Commander Donald B. MacMillan is heading the Bowdoin-MacMillan Arctic expedition. Charles E. Gilliam represents the Iowa State College, Ames, and the United States biological survey. Harry Snyder will be in the north sponsored by the National Museum of Canada and the American Museum of Natural History. Dr. G. C. Crile will be from the Cleveland Museum of Natural History, Cleveland, Ohio.

The Royal Geographical Society of Great Britain is sending David Haig-Thomas, John Wright, Richard A. Hamilton and is co-operating with St. John's College, Cambridge, in sending J. M. Wordie.

The Geographical Society has seven representatives who spent last winter in the north. They are T. H. Manning, Patrick D. Baird, R. P. Pilkington, G. W. Rowley, R. J. O. Bray, P. Bennett and Robert Denham.

The Canadian government is sending an unusually large number of surveyors and other classes of scientists into the north, most of them on the Nascopie. The east Arctic patrol, as this expedition is called, is commanded by Major D. L. McKeand.

No Damage Done To Parks By Coronation Crowds

What an orderly people! With all the crowds, the celebration and what not, the Rt. Hon. Commissioner of Works in the British House announced that no damage had been done to flowers or flower beds in the great London parks during the Coronation. And contrary to another great European capital, there were no "verboten" signs put up. You have to take your hat off to people en masse like the British.

New Secret Of Longevity

Brigadier-General Says Wear Suspenders To Keep Fit

It is pleasing to find a variation in the prescriptions for good health at great age. Too much they have been limited to long walks, total abstinence, regular drinking and the like. Brigadier-General Samuel E. Tiltman, who will be 80 in October, astonished the ship news reporters the other day by attributing his fine physical condition to the fact that he has never supported his trousers with a belt. Suspenders are his secret, now revealed by a man who has gained distinction as soldier, astronomer, chemist and geologist.

There is much to say for the Tiltman theory. Suspenders may be ugly, while belts are aesthetically, but the old galleasses put the weight of the breeches on the shoulders and not on the hips. Put a belt on a man and he will automatically thrust his paunch out to keep the leather from slipping. Give him suspenders and he can put his chest out and his tummy in without fear and social disaster. There is also the element of congestion of the abdominal capillaries under pressure of the belt.

Suspenders went out when the vogue for country life made men try to be beautiful sans coat and waistcoat. They are coming back now and General Tiltman's certificate will give them another fillip. If a man cannot have two cars in his garage he can express prosperity by having suspenders for each and every pair of trousers.—New York Sun.

SELECTED RECIPES

RHUBARB PICKLE

1 qt. rhubarb, cut fine
1 qt. onions, chopped
1 pt. vinegar
2 cups brown sugar
2 cups Crown Brand Corn Syrup
1 tablespoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon allspice
1 teaspoon cayenne pepper
1/2 teaspoon paprika
1/2 teaspoon Tabasco sauce
Method: Cut rhubarb fine; put onion through food chopper. Combine all ingredients together and simmer gently until rhubarb is tender. Seal hot in sterile jars. Makes eight pints.

Drouth Hits Mars

Astronomers See Signs Of Arid Conditions In Equatorial Area

The planet Mars is having a drouth worse than any in the midwest dust bowl and the African Sahara.

The telescopic story of the drouth was reported to the American Association for the Advancement of Science by two Mt. Wilson astronomers, Dr. Walter S. Adams and Theodore Dunham, Jr.

This drouth was observed in the equatorial regions, the area where dark spots that astronomers suspect is vegetation, appear in summer.

It is the area fed by the canals of Mars. Judging by this report there is no doubt Martians use irrigation, if what astronomers see is vegetation.

Money Found By Boys

Small boys playing "bank" with pound notes attracted the attention of Glasgow police. Investigation showed the boys had found the notes in a black tin box in an abandoned house. ### Better Commission Programs

Extension Of Programme Period Forecast In Announcement

Extension of the daily programme period to 12 and possibly to 16 hours in October when the new high power transmitters in Ontario, Quebec and British Columbia will go into action, and the formation of light opera companies in Montreal and Toronto, were some of the announcements made by Major Gladstone Murray, general manager of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, following a meeting of regional directors and programme directors.

Grand opera concerts from United States will be continued, the general manager said, but it was felt that Canadian light opera talent existed to a sufficient degree to warrant formation of two companies which will give a series of 26 concerts, 13 from Montreal and 13 from Toronto.

Historical dramatizations and sketches based upon the activities of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and other features representative of Canadian life, will be presented, with musical programmes originating in principal cities from coast to coast.

Of interest to western Canada was Major Murray's announcement that United States programmes will be brought in from Pacific coast stations to avoid the time inconvenience to western listeners when these broadcasts are brought in from eastern stations.

Scotland Yard Able To Trace Fingerprints Within Five Minutes

Scotland Yard men will have the finest service of criminal records and fingerprints in the world when the extension to its building at Westminster is completed.

Britain To Compel Respect For Her Rights Says Chamberlain

London.—British leaders reminded a tense Europe that Britain is determined to compel respect for her rights and interests and that violation of the territorial integrity of Spain or free access to the Mediterranean, included in these interests, would not be tolerated.

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden gave the warning when they spoke to garden party audiences of their constituents.

Chamberlain, at Birmingham, declared one of his chief aims to be to make Britain so strong "that nobody dare treat her with anything but respect."

For that reason he would "compel as rapidly as possible Britain's £7,500,000,000 rearmament program."

He said he faced his responsibilities "without fear or hesitation."

Eden, at Coughton, in Warwickshire, gave warning that Britain is determined "to maintain the territorial integrity of Spain and keep the Mediterranean open as a main arterial road."

He uttered an emphatic reminder the British government can not remain indifferent "where British interests are concerned on the land or sea frontiers of Spain or the trade routes that pass by her."

Observers interpreted that as a reference to the danger of any power, especially Italy, attempting to cut the Mediterranean highway to India and the east.

The foreign secretary declared Britain had not and would not modify her time-honored principle that the Mediterranean is a "main arterial road," not merely a British shortcut to the Orient.

Eden declared Britain has the support of both parties in Spain in her efforts to maintain the integrity of that country.

Declaring the civil war was the outcome of "a prolonged period of weak government," he said: "In those troubled waters foreign elements of various kinds have had their fair share of fishing. . . Intervention has not been on one side alone, and has not been limited to the period after the outbreak of the war."

British non-intervention, Eden continued, "has been most scrupulously observed. Both parties in Spain know it. The whole world knows it."

Both speeches were interpreted as leaving little doubt Great Britain would maintain a firm stand against Friday's Italo-German proposals the non-intervention patrol around Spain be dropped and belligerent rights be granted the warring parties in Spain.

Some sources said this determination was due to a conviction that the granting of belligerent rights would favor insurgent Generalissimo Franco and enable countries favoring his cause to give him increased support and obtain a stronger foothold in the Iberian peninsula.

Eden, declaring Great Britain's chief purpose had been to confine the civil war to Spain, said: "But we have another interest and let us not doubt its significance to us—the maintenance of the territorial integrity of Spain. This point of view is shared by both parties in Spain, however much they disagree on all else, and in pursuit of it they will always have our support."

He said the British government was disinterested in Spain's form of government "but disinterestedness in this matter must not be taken to mean disinterestedness where British interests are concerned on the land or sea frontiers of Spain or the trade routes that pass her."

He coupled his insistence on these two points with references to "countries governed by dictatorships" who supported one side or the other and to "interveners" who "will not be found to have befriended Spain."

Search Believed Over

Body Found At Sea May Be That Of Duchess Of Bedford

London.—Discovery at sea of the headless and decomposed body of a woman clad in flying tops apparently solved the three-month mystery of the 71-year-old Duchess of Bedford's disappearance while piloting her private plane in a survey flight over the River Ouse area.

Capt. R. S. Riley of the British steamship Haytor found what was believed the body of the peeress who learned to fly at the age of 61 and before regular air service between the U.S.S.R. and North America would begin.

He outlined a government plan to establish several north polar camps in 1933 at even more remote spots than the present Soviet base and declared the government intended to continue scientific work in the polar region as a permanent project.

The explorer voiced agreement with the recent expressed view of Sir Hubert Wilkins, polar explorer, that a submarine could be used to reach the pole but he said Russia had proved that aeroplanes were more practical.

Would Grow More Wheat

Britain Considers Question Of Increasing Acreage

London.—The House of Commons considered the question of the production of wheat in Great Britain as W. S. Morrison, minister of agriculture, moved a money resolution to implement the plans of the government.

The scheme, announced May 27, amongst other things proposed raising the limit of the "anticipated supply" under the wheat act of 1932 from 48,000,000 to 64,000,000 bushels.

T. Williams, Labor, said the proposal to extend the amount of wheat on which the price will be guaranteed would be further encouragement for farmers to grow wheat on land not suited for it. He argued the United Kingdom could not compete with Canada, the United States, Australia or South America in the production of wheat, barley and oats.

Train Reaches High Speed

114 Miles Per Hour On Test Run In Britain

London.—A speed of 114 miles per hour was attained by a London, Midland and Scottish express train in the course of a record-breaking test run from London to Crewe, Cheshire, and return.

The train—the Coronation Scot—covered the 158 miles from Crewe to Euston station, London, in 119 minutes at an average speed of 80 m.p.h. and a world record for the longest sustained speed will be claimed.

The trip to Crewe was covered in 22 1/2 minutes at an average speed of 73 m.p.h., a record for that run.

The train touched 114 m.p.h. near Stafford, a record for a British steam train, while top speed on the return run was 100 m.p.h.

The train goes into service on a 360-minute schedule between London and Glasgow July 5.

Need Polar Bases

Required In Canada, U.S. And Alaska, Says Soviet Explorer

Moscow.—Dr. Otto J. Schmidt, leader of the Soviet polar expedition, said in an interview that bases would have to be established in Canada, the United States and Alaska before regular air service between the U.S.S.R. and North America would begin.

He outlined a government plan to establish several north polar camps in 1933 at even more remote spots than the present Soviet base and declared the government intended to continue scientific work in the polar region as a permanent project.

The explorer voiced agreement with the recent expressed view of Sir Hubert Wilkins, polar explorer, that a submarine could be used to reach the pole but he said Russia had proved that aeroplanes were more practical.

Will Investigate Costs

Calgary.—Judicial inquiry into highway construction costs in Alberta, to be conducted by Mr. Justice Lunney, of Calgary, probably will open in Edmonton August 16, Attorney-General J. W. Huggill stated in an interview here. He said commission counsel had not yet been appointed.

British Aviator In Crash

Southampton.—Sir Alan Cobham, aerial explorer, was slightly injured as his plane crashed after leaving the Southampton airport. Cobham was en route to Portsmouth after watching inauguration of the Imperial Airways' airmail plan. His engine apparently stalled.

WILLIAM FUZTON

Assistant general passenger agent for the Canadian Pacific Railway at Toronto since 1928, who retires on June 30th. One of the most popular railroad men in Canada, Mr. Fuzton has a record of 46 years with the company.

Guard Shoots Prisoner

Convict At St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary Is Slain

Montreal.—A convict at St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary was shot by a guard at a prison quarry outside the penitentiary walls after an asserted attempt to attack a second guard.

The prisoner was identified as Osmophré Michelin, 25, of Three Rivers, Que., who was serving a sentence for breaking and entering and theft.

Shot through the head, he died instantly.

An informed source said the shooting occurred when Michelin struck a guard in the quarry, about two miles from the actual prison site but on penitentiary property.

The alleged attack, this source said, was not part of any concerted uprising. Nor was Michelin attempting to escape. Apparently, this informant said, he became angered at the guard and hit him. Whether or not he used a weapon was not indicated.

Another guard overlooking the quarry in a high tower saw the occurrence and shot at the convict. The shot was fired, it was explained merely to disable the prisoner. The bullet passed through his brain.

Short Season Commences

Summer Is Now In Full Swing At Goldfields

Goldfields, Sask.—In the sub-Arctic and Arctic the short summer is on. Trees are in full leaf, flowers are in bloom, birds are nesting, 80 above. Berry bushes, too, are blooming. The latter include Saskatoons, raspberries, blueberries, gooseberries, cranberries, dew berries and others. In less than a month fruit will have formed and will be ripening. Bears will be happy.

Back in the deep dank muskegs and lowlands myriads of mosquitoes and black flies lie in wait to initiate the innocent. In the Athabasca country it is summer. Sleigh dogs are resting. Northerners are glad that this season is short and sweet.

Want Landing Field At Victoria

Victoria.—The Greater Victoria airplane committee decided to urge on Hon. C. D. Howe, federal minister of transport, establishment of an auxiliary landing field here in connection with the projected Trans-Canada Airways development. The committee will forward its request to the minister at Ottawa.

POLAR FLIERS FETED IN OAKLAND

Valeri Chkalov, Georgi Baidukov and Alexander Belsikov. Soviet Russia's air heroes, the three fliers who made the 5,600-mile non-stop hop over the top of the world from Moscow to Vancouver, Washington, were feted when they visited Oakland, California, their goal on the flight. Shown above, left to right, are: Valeri Chkalov, pilot; Georgi Baidukov, co-pilot, and Alexander Belsikov, navigator.

Opposing Forces Are Unable To Agree On Isolating Civil War

Paris.—The Associated Press said French foreign office sources had confirmed reports France and Great Britain had determined freely to supply arms, munitions and planes to the Spanish government unless Germany and Italy changed their attitude regarding non-intervention in Spain.

Officially labelling such action as a "resumption of normal commercial relations," persons close to Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos, the Associated Press said, indicated Spanish Foreign Minister Jose Giral Pereira had come to Paris to make arrangements for delivery of war materials if and when such action was taken.

Spanish government officials declined to discuss Giral Pereira's visit and also reports that Spanish government Premier Juan Negrin was coming to Paris.

In London, Europe's "hands off Spain" conferees, stalemated over opposing proposals for isolating the civil war, have decided to call in all 27 non-intervention powers for a full-dress review of the situation.

London.—Germany and Italy formally rejected an Anglo-French proposal for taking over the entire international non-intervention patrol of Spain's coasts and offered counter-proposals.

The two nations, which have recalled their ships from the Spanish patrol, proposed that belligerent rights be accorded both the Spanish government and the insurgent regime.

Both Germany and Italy stated they were "resolved to maintain the principle of non-intervention." The German-Italian counter-proposals said:

"The two governments are conscious of the real difficulties of the situation and think that all the more their duty to all is to seek new ways and methods to make non-intervention as effective as possible. The two powers then proposed that all interested powers agree to grant the two parties in Spain belligerent rights."

Germany and Italy declared that "the patrol system by four powers has utterly failed and the two combatants in Spain with their own ships and acting with belligerent rights, could establish 'an effective form of patrol.'"

They said that by receiving a status under international rules of war, the warring sides would "assume towards neutral states full responsibility for the conduct of warfare in the air, on land and on the sea."

France Is Pleased

Britain And United States Agree To Continue Monetary Agreement

Paris.—Notes from the British and United States governments agreeing to continue the three-power monetary agreement of last October were handed to Finance Minister Georges Bonnet.

Officials declared this renewal of the pact was "highly gratifying" to France, faced with a financial crisis which compelled her to abandon temporarily the gold basis for the franc.

They said the accord would give France a chance to work out her economic difficulties with assurance that her currency would be safeguarded internationally.

Curry Greetings To Roosevelt

Washington.—Greetings from T. D. Patten, prime minister of British Columbia, were brought to President Roosevelt at the White House by two youths who rode their bicycles from that province to attend the Boy Scout jamboree here. The boys, Arthur Freeman and Phil LaFortune, started from their home in Cobble Hill, B.C., April 26.

President Roosevelt And Lord Tweedsmuir In Good Will Messages

Ottawa.—President Roosevelt sent birthday greetings to Canada on July 1, his good wishes were reciprocated to the people of the United States by Lord Tweedsmuir, the governor-general.

"Individually and collectively, we pledge you the continuation of warm friendship," the president declared in a broadcast from Hyde park, New York.

From the British cruiser York in Quebec harbor, Lord Tweedsmuir thanked Mr. Roosevelt for his greetings and to Canadians addressed this message: "Let us remember today that her (Canada's) destiny is not to be a mere territorial expression and not to be merely nine provinces, but to be a single and indivisible nation."

President Roosevelt says as follows:

On behalf of the government and people of the United States, I give me sincere gratification to extend a word of greeting to our Canadian friends and to congratulate them on the 70th anniversary of Canadian confederation.

Through the years that have elapsed since that memorable July 1, 1867, we of the United States have watched with the keenest and most sympathetic interest the splendid growth of the Canadian nation, which in ever-increasing measure commands our respect and inspires our affection. Individually and collectively, we pledge you the continuation of our warm friendship. I do not know of any greater gift in the power of nations or of individuals to bestow.

On this occasion, the Canadian people will pause to contemplate the changes—spiritually and culturally, as well as materially—of the past 70 years. The field is broad, but in whatever direction you may look you will find just cause for pride. We rejoice with you in your past and your present, and in the promise which the future holds for you. Ours is an unbroken record of friendship and amity as witnessed by an unfurled boundary of more than 5,000 miles as the outward and visible token of mutual confidence and goodwill. This friendship between our two peoples is secure from every hazard of destruction or misunderstanding because it is based upon a common aspiration to maintain, to defend and to perpetuate the democratic form of constitutional representative government. In that spirit I salute our neighbor of the north. I congratulate the Canadian people on the successful achievement of the free institutions through three score and 10 years of confederation. And as one who has spent so many happy moments on Canadian soil, I send you my affectionate greetings.

Lord Tweedsmuir spoke as follows: On behalf of the people of Canada I most warmly reciprocate the greeting of the president of the United States. Canada is an old country; as a territorial unit she is older than the United States, older than New England or Virginia. But the United States became a federated people nearly a century before us, and thereby set us an example. We welcome with gratitude and affection the good wishes of the president not merely as a pledge of fellowship between neighbors and old friends but as the congratulations of the pioneers who blazed the trail for us to follow.

We are neighbors and friends and we are also colleagues. We are both North American peoples with the making of a new civilization in our hands. We have both behind us a living European tradition which must be the basis of that civilization. And we are both coming to realize that we have certain responsibilities to the world at large, which may still be difficult to define, but which it is probable will have much in common. Marching in the same direction towards the same goal, I hope and believe that more and more we shall come to pool our ideas about the problems of the world.

I should like to offer to the people of Canada one reflection which I think is as appropriate as the day of national remembrance. Seventy years ago the fathers of confederation accomplished a great work. They gave Canada Unity. They could not give unity. Unity comes only by the process of time, by the slow assimilation of different points of view and different traditions. Canada must have not merely a formal confederation, but a sincere identity of purpose, and a true homogeneity of spirit. Let us remember today that her destiny is not to be a mere territorial expression and not to be merely nine vigorous provinces, but to be a single and indivisible nation.

Russo-Japanese Border Dispute Is Fraught With Grave Dangers

Moscow.—The Soviet government announced it would withdraw its armed forces from the disputed Amur river islands, scene of a Russo-Japanese clash, if Japan agrees to do likewise.

The announcement, made in a foreign office communique, declared Soviet Russia claims indemnification for the Russian losses in the fight which created a situation described by the Japanese ambassador as "very strained."

Russia had suddenly floated a defence loan of 4,000,000,000 rubles ($800,000,000 at the official rate) to be used for "consolidation of national defence." Officials predicted quick over-subscription.

The Japanese envoy, Mamoru Shigemitsu, had intimated "very serious" consequences might come if the Soviet Union rejected Japan's demand for evacuation of the disputed islands in the Amur, on the border of Russian Siberia and Japanese-dominated Manchukuo.

"The Soviet side is ready immediately to give the necessary order to retire its armed forces should a similar order be issued on the other side."

The communique added:

"If it should turn out there are no Japanese boats there now, as Ambassador Shigemitsu asserts, then Litvinoff (Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff) assures the ambassador that the Soviet patrols will be withdrawn immediately and thus the question will be settled."

If the Japanese ships have been withdrawn, the statement said then Russia is willing "to begin negotiations on redemption of the frontier line along the Amur." Both sides claim ownership of the islands, possession of which means control of the river.

A Japanese army communique announced Japanese-Manchukuoan land forces had sunk one Soviet Russian gunboat, inflicted casualties on another and repulsed a third vessel after being fired upon at Blagoveshchensk on the Amur river.

The communique asserted three Soviet boats, "invading" south Kanchatka island below Blagoveshchensk, "opened fire on Japanese-Manchukuoan guards." The Japanese action followed.

The Amur river runs along the northeastern Manchukuo-Siberian border.

Ever since Japan took over Manchuria from China in 1931 the frontier between far eastern Russia and Manchukuo, its Japanese-sponsored neighbor, has been disputed.

Up to that time the Russians enjoyed virtual monopoly of the Amur. Various subsequent attempts by Soviet Russia and Manchukuo to establish a recognized border line along the 3,000-mile frontier, especially in the Amur area, have failed. The new border clash followed close upon an announcement by the Japanese embassy in Moscow that the Russian government had agreed to withdraw troops and boats concentrated at Blagoveshchensk islands in the Amur river.

That announcement said Manchukuo would then withdraw troops from a nearby shore position. There have been several border clashes between Russian and Japanese-Manchukuoan troops in recent weeks. Russian dispatches from Siberia laid these to "provocative attempts" to block navigation on the Amur river and seize the islands which Russia claims.

THURSDAY, JULY 8, 1937.

PUBLISHING a country weekly newspaper is not a business at which you become wealthy. One does not buy motor cars or diamond rings on the profits, for you are fortunate to make both ends meet, and you have to stretch them as far as possible. For that reason it is hoped that all who may have received statements pay as early as possible, for expenses keep going on and we must keep after collections, in order to meet them. Necessity compels one to pass on this gentle reminder, for we aim to pay our bills rather than to indulge in extravagances on credit. Ten years publishing in Coleman has not placed us beyond the borderline of want by any means.

SOMEWHAT like the ministry, a weekly newspaper renders services in general publicity for many things in which there is no financial return, but those services cost the publisher money in wages and overhead expenses. There was a country newspaper publisher who died worth about $10,000, but investigation showed $9,999 was bequeathed to him and the balance was made up by the paper. The impression some may have that publishing a newspaper in Coleman is a money-making venture might quickly be dispelled if they knew our experiences of the ten years we completed on June 30. Despite that it has been our constant aim to make The Journal worthy of Coleman, but it must be pointed out that one cannot spend more on the costs of publication than the revenue affords, unless he wants to leave his creditors holding the bag, a practice common with some for whom there is no excuse. They lack the sense of responsibility and have a distorted view of their obligations to creditors who have done them a good turn when in need.

THERE ARE merchants in this and other towns whose books reveal barefaced callousness in regard to debts. For instance, a merchant may see one of his debtors whom he has supplied with provisions or merchandise sporting an expensive car while the debt is ignored, but the finance company shows no mercy. You either pay or you lose the car. The remedy for the merchant is to insist on cash when dealing with that type. No money, no goods! Transportation companies, automobile concerns, mail order houses, chain stores, all demand their pound of flesh, and they get it. No stalling with them! No sir!

THE LINES of that well known poem, "The Village Blacksmith," might well be quoted: "Toiling, rejoicing, sorrowing, Onward through life he goes; He looks the whole world in the face, And owes not any man."

WHEN the Social Credit government was elected, we recall making gentlemen's bets with various Social Credit acquaintances that they would never receive any dividends of $25 or even $5. That was in the days when they tried to convert us to their manner of thinking. We bear them no ill-will for not honoring these bets, for we looked on the bets with the same jocularity that we did the promise of Premier Aberhart to pay dividends. The smoke didn't get in our eyes, though it did in many others whose idolatry of the Prophetic Institute prophet was pathetic in its simplicity. However, we have to live together as neighbors and friends, and must have tolerance for each others views on political or religious matters. It reminds us of an incident reported in "News of the World." A political speaker in South Africa declared at a meeting that all that country needed was a better water supply and a better class of settler, to which a heckler retorted: "Yes, and that's all that's wrong with hell!" When Premier Aberhart tells us all that is needed is co-operation and the country needs more rain, some of the settlers in the dried-out areas might well remember the comparison.

Drawing $450 of next year's seasonal indemnity is the way the Social Credit legislature votes itself payment in advance. Wouldn't it be nice if everyone could finance their summer vacations like that!

The Journal received a renewal subscription from A. L. Watkins of High River. He is well remembered in fraternal and church circles here, and likes to keep in touch with Coleman happenings through this great family journal.

Jimmy Taylor explains the reason the Union Jack was not flying at the Grand Union hotel on Dominion Day: The rope on the flagpole was broken. Explanation accepted, Private Taylor! Don't let it occur again! There have been court-martials held for similar omissions of duty.

Mrs. J.A. McLeod, Vivian, and Jack and Sidney, came down from Cadomin last week-end to visit friends for about three weeks. Mr. McLeod is expected later. It is two years since they left here. Mr. McLeod having been superintendent at International mine.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Atkins, Sr., Jonty, Mary and Graham, enjoyed a trip over the Logan Pass highway last week, going via Waterton, and returning via Kalispell, Mont., and Elko. Snow several feet deep was seen along the highway in Logan Pass.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Chamberlain and family and Reggie Jones motored to Waterton Lakes on Sunday, spending an enjoyable day.

HIS LUMBAGO WENT IN TWO WEEKS

Never Felt Better In His Life

Though he tried many so-called remedies, this man continued to suffer from lumbago for years. It troubled him, in fact, until he found the right remedy, Kruschen Salts. These are his own words:—

"I would like to tell you of the benefit I derived from the Kruschen Salts. For some years past I have been a sufferer from lumbago. I tried no end of other remedies, but got no relief whatever until one day I saw Kruschen advertised and thought I would give it a trial. I did, and to my surprise the lumbago left me after taking Kruschen for a fortnight. I am now taking it regularly every day and never felt better in my life."—W.K.

Kruschen is a combination of mineral salts which assist in stimulating your liver, kidneys and digestive tract to healthy, regular activity. If you could see how Kruschen dissolves away uric acid deposits, you would agree that the Kruschen treatment should bring relief in cases of lumbago.

THE YELLOW BRIAR

A Story of the Irish on the Canadian Countryside

By PATRICK SLATER

Arrangement with Thomas Allen, Publisher, Toronto.

CHAPTER VIII.

And in another way, I got bonus pay for the trouble I had in the schoolmaster's service at Whistling Hill. From that humble job of doing fatigue duties for him, came a respectable authority over the other youngsters that was as refreshing as a whiff of smelling salts to my young Celtic nostrils. In the inner circles of his heart, any Irishman dearly loves to be a boss; and it is heavy-handed, task-master usually makes. Watch him strutting on a policeman's beat; listen to the talk of the man, and observe the way he swings the stick of the law. My the Good Lord deliver all poor creatures from an Irish father's rule or section boss! But, of course, if they get sick or fall down externally, the man, being Irish, may become tender hearted. What arbitrary creatures have been produced by a race that for centuries has been in spiritual revolt against all authority! Even if I had to split the world to warm the children at the school, I got a deal of satisfaction out of the sweet, tasty thought that the whole kit and dice of them were being ruled by Old Hickory Me.

And my heart was fortified by the wholesome, friendly good humor of the Marshall farm. Mrs. Marshall was as kind to me as a mother. And, after a fashion, I was greatly taken with little Charlie Marshall. The lad was a tow-haired youngster, much younger than the other boys, much as seven months younger. And then, of course, he lacked my wide experience in the world, being born as he was on a farm, and only once since a child in arms, having gone as far as Toronto.

Built with the labor of toll-worm hands, it was a big, sound, wholesome thing, that place of farm about which Charlie and I romped and played together. Each winter's work had brought fresh acres under the plow. The young apple trees already gave timid promise of pining berries and boys; and there were live-stock aplenty about the place. Their first yoke of oxen, staid fed over winter on mangolds and oaten meal, had brought awhile back the tidy sum of £23, Halifax currency; and chunky farm horses now filled the place of those laboring cattle. To William Marshall and his wife, their farm was a constant source of deep family pride as something worthwhile already done; and within their honest kindly hearts glowed bright hopes of great things yet to be. In the fancy of William and Nancy Marshall, their great clearing in the backwoods of Canada would grow with the years into the landed estate of a proud Irish family. And, on a pioneer farm, there must of course, be a son to bring such fond hopes to a rich fruition. And Charlie was the only boy in the family.

Such an only boy on a farm usually has a lonely time of it. The men folk are too busy to be bothered with him. His little sisters are a tag-along and a nuisance. And the women about the house keep calling to him to close the doors. No one looks the time to probe into the curious ideas and odd humours of a healthy young lad, who ate-a-plenty. But I proved a good listener. So for a while, I filled a great want in the heart of the quiet, self-centred little boy, who boasted stoutly to me of his marvelous feats in uprooting great trees and upsetting buildings. Charlie had been driven to live very much to himself, and, as a result, had constructed a beautiful dream-land of make-believe, where he had the power to do anything he wished and to get anything he desired. And we all, at times, play at the same game. The books we enjoy are the ones that do our day-dreaming for us. Stories of wild adventure appeal to timid little clerks growing bald-headed and fat-bellied in stuffy offices, and cynical comic novels are for readers whose lives have been a long, dreary repetition of the same. But Charlie was further than most of us; he carried his world of imagination with him into the world of fact.

About the time I first went up to Mono Township, Mr. Bell, who had a wood-turning shop on Victoria Street, in Toronto, had recently invented a reaping machine, which he had on exhibition, and was offering for sale for £40, Halifax currency. Men up-country, who had never seen the Bell reaper, were scratching their heads at the possibilities of this great labor-saving discovery of the age. Charlie Marshall's young mind was greatly impressed, and with a few rusty bolts and a short board or two, he was busy fabricating a machine that would, he told me, make Bell's reaper look like a spigot.

And though I failed to get them, he insisted like every inventor in explaining his ideas to me in great detail. Since then, I have driven the distance of clean round the world, with one horse or another, on the excuse of getting spare parts for farm machinery; but I cannot yet grasp the idea in the heads of their makers, who put cheap iron castings in the vital parts of a machine built for heavy field service. As the maker of a farm implement, fancy little Charlie Marshall's chief idea was to get the idea of paint, one red and the other green.

There was a little four-year-old in the Marshall family; and Betty had laid claim to me, will or no, the second day I was in Mono. The child was standing by the kitchen doorway, swinging one leg over the corner of her piny in her mouth. She had evidently been looking me over, but the first time I took notice of her existence, her eyes were on the floor in the denims, any way women sometimes wear before they lose their milk teeth.

"You no scratch-me... Paddy?" she asked me, as I passed out with the water pail.

"No... why?"

"You a cat-catcher?"

"Come on, little girl," I said, taking her hand, "come on and help me get the water."

"Shame on you!" said I, "sticking your nose in the cup. How can I lead after you? I ask you, you sticking your nose in the cup?"

I could see that was a poser for her; and I rinsed the cup out carefully three times, before treating myself to a drink.

"You hot?" she hollered, "your nose sticks in, too!"

And I was hauled around straight away to see the broken crockery where her mud ples were made. I did not sample her wares, but if I were giving her a reference as a cook general, I would say that she seemed a swift and confident worker, but a little wasteful in handling her supplies.

Betty was a winsome child, and, in proof of it, I can produce a faded photograph of her young ladyship at the age of six. There was a copper sheen to her little pigtail, and her eyes were to her true blue. Of course, getting a likeness taken on those days was a full-dress parade, and the judicious will not be deceived. The child was the daughter of Elizabeth Ann in her Sunday-best, meeting best. The lace of her shoes, let me tell you, were usually dragging, and her drawers would often have been the better for a hinch. Her body was as supple as a rope, and she was drawing it around with an abandon which held bruises and scratches of no account. The bodily agility some children have can only be explained by reference to universal joints. Betty was a fearless little dare-devil, always getting into the way, and scampering out in front of an excitement. Here was a fiery little temper that did not dissolve in tears.

Times without number the child had been warned to quit riding astride the old black sow, and one day she threw it around with an abandon which held bruises and scratches of no account. "You are a bad little girl," I told her, as she sat scraping the mud off her shoe.

"You no like me! . . . me no like you!" and quick as a flash she shed a shoe and flung it at me.

But it was a moist, little thing that was about to land on my nose, and suddenly played on the dimple again.

Betty had a lift of the gab, and her explosive spirit earned her many a smart spanking.

"Close your gable, and hold your ladder!" Sarah Duncan would exclaim, as the child's limber tongue wagged on incessantly.

The quiet of the Sabbath's blessed rest was not broken in those days for the country-woman by noisy parties of city friends driving up the lane with a hungry look in their children's eyes.

But the Reverend Mr. Berry, the Wesleyan Methodist minister, had the annoying habit, now and again, of bringing his helpmate and all the little Berries with him to his morning preaching appointment at the local meeting-house. And before the service, he would drive up our lane to let Mrs. Marshall see what she was in for.

Of necessity, she invited the minister and his family to dinner. And, of course, the Rev. Mr. Berry told dear little Marshall not to go to any special trouble. And, of course, Mrs. William Marshall knew, and the Rev. Mr. Berry and his wife, and all the little Berries knew—and the Stationing Committee of the Methodist church—and all the world knew—that a Sunday dinner for a Methodist minister's family was a formal and heavy affair with its chicken soup floating the dumplings, its two vegetable, and a large roast, followed by hot pie and puddings.

Many a Sunday morning, I caught a couple of hens on the run to wring their necks for the material good of the Methodist Connection; and if the Methodist ministers are able to run away from the way they try to run things down here, I sincerely hope these chickens will be counted to me for righteousness. On one Sunday visitation of this kind, little Betty, who was then rising six, helped me pick and shell a big mess of green peas and "podding."

"You no scratch-me... Paddy?" she asked me, as I passed out with the water pail.

"No... why?"

"You a cat-catcher?"

"Come on, little girl," I said, taking her hand, "come on and help me get the water."

Pension Curiosities

In Connection With The War OF 1812

In the United States last week they observed Memorial Day. One American kept it by pointing out in the New York Times that since the Revolution the Government has paid war veterans over $21,000,000,000.

Some of the things noted by this writer are extraordinary, to say the least.

The war of 1812 ended 122 years ago. Yet at the beginning of the present month Mrs. Caroline King, widow of Private Darius King, of the New York Militia, received her monthly cheque of $50 and Mrs. Sarah Ann Hill Morgan, daughter of Private John Hill, of the New York Militia, received her monthly cheque of $20—both pensions going back to the War of 1812.

The Mexican War was fought in 1846-48. At the close of last month 72,000 persons on account of the 226 widows of soldiers who fought in the Mexican War were still on the pension rolls.

The Civil War was over and done with 72 years ago. Last month Washington mailed out cheques for $7,600 persons on account of the Civil War. In addition there were nearly 5,000 veterans, widows and orphans of the Indian wars drawing pensions, over 2,000 veterans of the Spanish-American War drawing pensions, and so on.

Finally, there are Great War pensions. United States World War veterans have thus far collected $3,250,000,000—and are still collecting. This in addition to $3,621,000,000 they receive through bonus cheques and medical and hospital care.—Charlottesville Guardian.

Too Smart For Capture

Arizona Cowboys Unable To Round Up Wild Horses

Fleet-footed wild mustangs that roam the isolated Arizona strip between the Grand Canyon and the Utah border remained at large after a futile attempt of 60 picked cowboys to corral them.

Returning to Phoenix after abandoning the roundup, arranged to ride the ranges of the pests, Huling E. Jones, the most vicious and angriest of the Arizona cowboys, expressed doubt that many of the animals would ever be captured.

Alleged by an airplane, civilian conservation corps specialists who constructed huge corrals, a rugged terrain and torrid temperatures, the cowboys in two days captured not more than 100 of the tamest animals.

Some died from exhaustion before they reached the improvised corrals, and others, frightened by captivity, died before they could be shipped to Flagstaff, the nearest railroad station, almost 200 miles away.

Uttersy estimated not more than half of the captured would live to the front at the destination at Clifton, N.M., where they will be placed on the auction block.

An estimated 500 still enjoy the freedom of the open range, although ranchers have tried for years to corral or destroy them.

Where Staring Is Supreme

Its Maneuvering Cannot Be Surpassed By Any Other Bird

"In fleet flight no bird (except the superb swift, and not even the duck, Canadian goose or pigeon) surpasses the maneuvering of the starling," writes John Stuart Thomson to the New York Sun.

"He may be in individual tactics he surpassed by the kingbird."

"But on the far-flung chart of the skies one starling leader goes to the front at the very end of destiny which whips to him alone. When he calls for wheel of divisions, the order progressively breaks up, each fleet headed by a leader. Round and round they go, and at each round one division drops to the feeding grounds till all are placed and provided for, and the Peary of the voyage at last reaches his own Farthest North!"

Have One Advantage

Modern Children Know Nothing About Old Method Dentistry

A dentist I met the other day declared that the rising generation is not afraid of the dentist until adults transmit their own fear. Children now at school have the advantage of all the less painful methods, and know nothing except by hearsay of the old gory methods of old. Only when fond mothers say—"Now be a brave little chap!" do they begin to wonder just what's going to be their fate.—Glasgow Bulletin.

The Netherlands Indies shipped over 85,000 tons of tea to other parts of the world in last year.

A Presage Of Trouble

Sun Spots On The Planet Jupiter

Interference With Astronomers

Three discoveries that presage trouble for the earth was reported to the American Association for the Advancement of Science. They are:

One, a huge, new spot on the planet Jupiter, which is the beginning of a mysterious storm there; two, a remarkable change on the face of Mars which looks like fine dust sweeping the planet; three, record-breaking sunspot storms on the sun.

Jupiter's spot, a dark patch perhaps the size of North America, south of the planet's equator, was discovered within the past month at the Lowell observatory, Flagstaff, Ariz., and announced by E. C. Slichter.

The spot lies in what astronomers think is an outer shell of clouds, that include ammonia and methane, and that hide the surface of Jupiter. This new spot has no connection with Jupiter's famous "big red spot," which is seen permanently.

The change in Mars' face also announced by Slichter and was commented on by other astronomers.

The sun-spot storms were reported from Mt. Wilson by Edith H. Nicholson and Elizabeth Sternberg Mulder, read by Alfred H. Joy, of the same observatory.

The present spots, they said, are running about 150 a day, will increase in number to about 20,000. Then within the first four months of next year the earth may expect their full force.

One all-time sun-spot record already has been broken this year. This was the most violent and longest magnetic storm on record. It was due to a group of sun-spots. Radio and telephone service were disrupted.

Powerful Bomb

New War Weapon Demonstrated By British Inventor

British military experts are experimenting with a powerful new gas and incendiary bomb, the Sunday Referee said.

Using a charge one-third smaller than that of the ordinary bomb, the newspaper said the new missile ate its way through steel armor plate, a fire wall and a protection of more than three inches of sand in 30 seconds.

After searing through this triple protection, the bomb released a deadly gas, the newspaper reported. The bomb was perfected by J. S. Hood, British inventor.

Famous Surgeon's Opinion

High Heels Not Injurious But Tight Shoes Are

A famous British orthopedic surgeon came to the defense of women who wear high-heeled shoes but condemned wearing of footgear that is too tight.

Surgeon who wear tight shoes, R. Watson Jones, of Liverpool, said were "a pair" with Chinese women who used to bind their feet to make them small. However, he said, high heels were not injurious, "provided they are not too high." The trouble high heels were supposed to cause was considerably exaggerated, he declared.

He expressed the opinion women were "getting more sensible" in their choice of shoes, declaring he had noticed in England that their foot-wear was becoming larger.

More Graduates This Year

Army Of 5,750 Step Out Into Business And Professional World

From all Canadian universities, an army of 5,750 graduates have stepped out into the business and professional world. A survey covering 18 colleges shows that at least 250 more degrees were awarded this year than in 1936, and the number will be augmented by graduates from theological and other colleges. "Engineering turned out fewer graduates but scientific training retained a strong appeal with about 300 awards at seven colleges. Graduates in medicine increased, while a decline is noted practically all along the line in the number going into law.

The Graf Zeppelin

Has Made 500 Successful Flights With Total Of 1,055,700 Miles

Many dirigibles have failed, but the Graf Zeppelin will continue to be exhibit No. 1 in the case of successful lighter-than-air navigation. The Graf is now in retirement at Frankfurt, Germany, where it will be exhibited. When the Graf in farewell to its birthplace circled Friedrichshafen, the flight was its 500th since it was placed in service in 1928. It has crossed the Atlantic 143 times and flown a total of 1,055,700 miles.

Miss Josephine Fauville Wins Watch

Coleman curlers held a smoker on Friday evening for the purpose of presenting prizes to last season's winners and also to draw for the Waltham watch on which tickets had been sold in an effort to raise funds for the club.

Mr. Wm. Ireland presided at the draw, the prize winner being Miss Josephine Fauville with ticket 194, sold to her by Sidney Houghton.

Following the drawing, president Andy Oliva made the presentation of prizes to last season's winners. Beautiful silver cups were presented to Antel's rink, winners of McGillivray cup. Sterling silver vases were awarded the Leier rink, winners of the Merchants' cup, and tea pots were awarded as third prize to the Destobel rink.

There are two pals we like so much.

Drop in when 'er we will; There's always a smile and a bid to sit down.

Their names are Ethel and Bill. It means so much to be in touch,

With folks who play the game; This little gift we offer you, Says "thank you" for the same.

The Journal is an advertising medium of proved value. Your own community newspaper gives value in appearance, in circulation and all-round results. Advertising in The Journal is a mighty fine investment for increased business, and is without question the most efficient result-getting medium.

The best way to build local business is to be a consistent advertiser in The Journal. Nothing conveys the spirit of enterprise as vividly and convincingly as the local weekly newspaper. It would open many people's eyes to know how outside people judge a town by its weekly newspaper.

FOR SALE—Standard Remington Typewriter at $20 cash. Apply at Journal office.

FOR SALE—Kitchen Cabinet, new. Apply to Ed. Charis, East Coleman.
